Career Objective: As a freelance illustrator, driven by a passionate ambition to specialize in designing and creating illustrations for a diverse array of characters. My artistic journey is fueled by crafting visually striking characters that capture the audience's attention through all media. I enjoy collaborating with clients to bring their visions to life. Especially when it's creating concepts for original characters for video games, animations, comics, or other forms of media, my goal is to create illustrations for interests that others and I love.
